DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1,5, 8-13,18,20,22 and 23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kamir et al. (US Publication 2002/0109663).

Regarding claims 1,11-13,18 and 20, Kamir et al. teaches a wide format printing apparatus and method (Figures 1,3 and 3A) including a plurality of printing sub-units (20C,20K,20M,20Y) being positioned to cover the width of a wide format substrate (12), a printing controller (14) to control the printing from the printing sub-units to print an image across the width of a wide format substrate and wherein printing of the sub-units prints an image narrower than the image printed across a wide format substrate (this is functional language and the controller 14 has the capability of performing this function). Please note that in claim 12, the limitation regarding printing narrower than the wide format image is not positively claimed as a method step.

Regarding claim 5, Kamir et al. teaches a method and apparatus comprising a printing controller (14) to enable analyzing of the output of a printing apparatus.

Regarding claims 8,22 and 23, Kamir et al. teaches a method and apparatus comprising an erasing unit (22) to erase non-fused toner images.

Regarding claim 9, Kamir et al. teaches a method and apparatus comprising a toner-recycling unit (48).

Regarding claim 10, Kamir et al. teaches a method and apparatus comprising a color toner separation unit (42).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2-4,6,7,14-17,19 and 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kamir et al. (US Publication 2002/0109663) in view of Narushima et al. (US Patent 6,831,755).

Regarding claims 2-4 and 19, Kamir et al. teaches the claimed invention and method with the exception of an image recognition unit including a colorimeter and pattern recognition system. Narushima et al. teaches a printer with image correcting capability with an imaging unit (142,147) that includes a colorimeter (Column 4, Lines 55-63) and a processor (22) for recognizing patterns. It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to modify the invention as taught by Kamir et al. to include an image recognition unit with a colorimeter and pattern recognition system as taught by Narushima et al., since Narushima et al. teaches that it is advantageous to perform color analysis in order to optimize and analyze printed images.

Regarding claims 6,7,14-17 and 21, Kamir et al. teaches the claimed invention with the exception of printing controller that enables tuning of the sub-units and adjusting the color output. Narushima et al. teaches a controller or controllers that operates with a processing system that in turns controls, tunes and adjust image data calculating units (Column 12, Lines 46-56, Lines 62-64, Column 13, Lines 1-5, Claims 22-24 and many references throughout the patent). It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to modify the invention as taught by Kamir et al. to replace the controller thereof, with a controller that controls, tunes and adjust printing sub-units as taught by Narushima et al., since Narushima et al. teaches that it is advantageous to correct the differences in color tone or contrast between an image displayed in order to provide a clear, concise image.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed 5/10/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Specifically regarding the added claim language, the examiner again notes that the controller 14 has the capability to perform and program the printheads to print narrower images.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
